ROCHESTER, N.Y., June 6—The KODAK SCANMATE i1120 Scanner, a value priced solution designed for the super sized challenge of paper clutter is now a Finalist for Best New Product or Service in the 2008 American Business Awards (ABA), a program of The Stevie Awards. The SCANMATE Scanner received high overall scores from judges for its ability to provide small to medium sized businesses with an effective method for managing documents and information digitally.

“ABA entries grew more than 30 percent this year, so being named a finalist is more of an accomplishment than ever before,” said Michael Gallagher, Founder and President of The Stevie Awards. “It means that independent business executives have agreed that the SCANMATE Scanner is worthy of national recognition. We congratulate Kodak on its achievement and wish them well in the competition.”

The American Business Awards are the only national, all encompassing awards program honoring great performances in business.

Specifically designed to help businesses optimize productivity and organization, the compact SCANMATE Scanner provides users with high performance capture speed, image quality and processing capabilities. Intelligent image enhancement features capture scanned images at optimal quality, providing usable, electronic documents that are often clearer and easier to read than the original paper document.

“The i1120 combines quality performance with a decent productivity software bundle to create a strong small to medium sized business offering,” said Brian Sheinberg, Technical Editor, *CRN*Tech magazine. “It’s a solid imaging solution that should be considered a good fit for small or midsize customers with specific desktop imaging and output needs.”

The SCANMATE Scanner provides businesses with a complete capture based solution when used with the comprehensive software package that includes NUANCE SCANSOFT PAPERPORT 11 Software, NUANCE SCANSOFT OMNIPAGE 15 Software and NEWSOFT PRESTO! BizCard 5 Software. These solutions give users the ability to extract and organize information from paper documents for easy use within email, desktop applications and database systems.

“This announcement marks the third consecutive year a KODAK Scanner has been named a finalist in the American Business Awards. Kodak is more committed than ever to providing innovative technology that allows business professionals to develop effective strategies for achieving real productivity gains,” said Dolores Kruchten, General Manager, Document Imaging, Vice President, Kodak’s Graphic Communications Group, and Vice President, Eastman Kodak Company. “Powerful tools, like the SCANMATE Scanner, are helping small to medium sized businesses across the country manage the many effects of information.”

Kodak's previous achievements at The American Business Awards include Best New Product or Service in 2007 for the KODAK Scan Station 100 and Best Support Organization for KODAK Service and Support in 2006.
